

Website Privacy Notice

When you visit our website we may collect information from you, such as your email address, IP address and other online identifiers. This helps us to track unique visits and monitor patterns of customer website traffic, such as who visits and why they visit.

We use third parties to collate IP addresses to help us understand our internet traffic data and data regarding your browser type and computer. We may also use web usage information to create statistical data regarding the use of our website. We may use cookies and/or pixel tags on some page of our website. A cookie is a small text file sent to your computer. A pixel tag is an invisible tag placed on certain pages of our website, but not on your computer. Pixel tags usually work together with cookies to help us to give you a more tailored service. We also use cookies and pixel tags in our email communication. This allows us to monitor and improve our email communications and website. Useful information about cookies, including how to remove them, can be found at <http://allaboutcookies.org>. Internet browsers normally accept cookies by default, although it's possible to set a browser to reject cookies. We'll ask your permission before using any cookie that's not essential to the mail or use of the website. However, refusing to accept cookies may restrict your use of our website and/or delay or effect the way in which our website operates.

You can find more information on cookies when you visit our website.